

THE PARALLEON DESIGNER ETHICS CODEX

A Founders' Guidance for All Worlds, Realms, Satires, and Stories We Build Together

1. Purpose of This Document

This codex exists to protect the creative integrity, emotional safety, and philosophical depth of everything created under EGGS, Paralleon, Reath, Mythic Strategies, Gauntlet, Egghead University, and all future branches of the universe.

It is our North Star — the rulebook that lets us explore boldly without accidentally causing harm, misunderstanding, or real-world overlap.

This is what keeps our worlds original, ethical, fun, and future-proof as the project scales.

PART I — PARALLEON / EGGS FICTIONAL ETHICS

(For all lore, art, worldbuilding, factions, metaphysics, aesthetic design, satire-in-fiction)

Fiction First, Reality Distant

Our worlds stand on their own.

Symbols, metaphysics, factions, and aesthetics must not mirror real nations, religions, or conflicts. No “file-off-the-serial-number” shortcuts.

Imagery Without Trauma, Trauma Without Imagery

We can show strange structures without the suffering,

OR explore suffering metaphorically without copying real images.

Never both together.

This prevents unintentional reenactments or associations.

Transform, Don't Transcribe

Inspiration ≠ replication.

Draw from philosophy, culture, anthropology —

but mutate everything through alien logic, cosmic metaphysics, and exaggerated aesthetics.

No Reenactment of Human Tragedy

No fictionalized versions of real massacres, wars, collapses, disasters, or atrocities.

We never “retell” humanity's wounds.

Systems, Not People

We criticize systems (capital, attention, bureaucracy, entropy, government strategy).

Never real human groups, cultures, or identities.

Absurdity & Exaggeration as Armor

When in doubt, go surreal. Go cosmic. Go bizarre.

Warp the scale, push the humor, twist the physics —

The further from Earth, the safer and more iconic the art becomes.

Internal Logic Beats External Reading

Each faction must be so fully fleshed out in lore, aesthetics, beliefs, history, and metaphysics that players interpret them within the universe, not as analogues to real societies.

Clarity Through Context

If any symbol, motif, or emblem could be interpreted as evocative, we give it explicit in-lore meaning.
No ambiguity where it matters.

No Real Symbols

No flags.
No military badges.
No religious icons.
No political emblems.
Full stop.

Compassion Over Shock

We choose narrative weight, humor, curiosity, philosophy — never shock value or provocation.

PART II — REATH COMMENTARY ETHICS

(For social commentary, cultural satire, pop criticism, analysis, and IRL-parallel essays)

Discussion, Not Depiction

We can TALK about real events.
We do not visually recreate suffering or trauma.

Free Speech With Responsible Framing

Any real-world topic can be analyzed — as long as the tone is thoughtful, humorous, philosophical, or educational.
Never sensational.

Punch Up, Not Down

Target systems, institutions, power structures, trends, ideologies — not vulnerable people or marginalized groups.

Inform Without Exploit

If referencing a real event, focus on lessons:
ideas → consequences → cultural shifts → reflections.
Not vivid detail, gore, or reenactment.

Satire With Purpose

Reath critiques to reveal insight, irony, absurdity, or meaning.
Not to demean, mock, or hurt.

Metaphor Over Mimicry

Use symbolism, analogy, hyperbole — not literal reconstruction of real tragedy.

Respect for Real Pain

Tragedies deserve dignity.
We acknowledge without trivializing.

Multi-Perspective Awareness

Consider nuance.
Avoid flattening complex cultural or political topics into single-angle jokes.

Curiosity Over Cynicism

Reath is analytical, humorous, imaginative.
Never bleak, bitter, or cruel.

Audience Trust Is Sacred

We never surprise the community with graphic content.
Tone transparency is part of the brand's safety.

PART III — THE UNIFYING FOUNDERS' PRINCIPLE

*“Use fiction to illuminate reality, and reality to inspire fiction —
but never let one harm the other.”*

This is the heart of the entire project.

It ensures:

- We stay legally safe
- We avoid cultural harm
- We honor our community
- We protect the longevity of the brand
- We remain original creators, not accidental reenactors

This is how Paralleon stays timeless.
